C. A. BARTON

President, International Ventures
AT & T Asia/Pacific

*World Services Congress Hong Kong
20 & 21 September 2001*

Mr. Barton is President, AT&T International Ventures Organization - Asia Pacific. He is responsible for executing AT&T's international growth strategies in the region by identifying, developing, and managing AT&T's in-country investments. He also represents AT&T to governments, regulatory bodies, multilateral organizations and other associations on matters of public policy and regulatory affairs relating to the company's businesses.

Mr. Barton started his career with AT&T in Business Markets Sales, and held a number of Sales Management and National Account Management positions before moving to AT&T's international division. There, his responsibilities included major projects in AT&T's European Business Unit, global marketing, global account management, and regional sales. In 1992, he moved to Australia, where he was Managing Director for AT&T's South Pacific operations and also served as International Carrier Services director. He was transferred to Hong Kong in 1994, where he served as Strategy and Business Development Vice President and Public Affairs Vice President for the Asia Pacific region prior to his current assignment.
